CREDIT UNION

Disclosure:

If any owner sends or receives a wire transfer, Fedwire may be used. Federal Reserve Board Regulations J is the law, which covers transactions made over Fed wire. If the owner of any account gives the credit union a payment order which identifies the beneficiary by name and an identifying account number, payments made to the beneficiary may be made on the basis of the identifying account number, even if the number identifies a person different than the named beneficiary. If the owner of any account gives the Credit Union a payment order which identifies any financial institution and the funds transferred by name and by a routing/transfer or other identifying number, a receiving financial institution may rely on that number as the proper identification, even if it identifies a financial institution different from the named financial institution.

Please note, once wire has been sent, it cannot be reversed.

Upon submitting this wire transfer, you are agreeing to disclosures and all electronic notices after the fact. By signing this form, I hereby accept all disclosures and certify all information below is correct. I also authorize Neighborhood Credit Union to debit my account for amount of wire plus wire fee.
